

Taxiway Lima

accountability and flexibility

The Concept

Taxiway Lima has evolved into a partnership that supports governments and the aviation industry of developing and emerging nations with relevant operational and strategic expertise, mainly during start-up and turn-around processes. We always provide accountability and flexibility by industry veterans.

What does set us apart from our competition? We specialize in start-ups and change management projects in developing and emerging countries. By focusing on such a relatively small market, we pride to call ourselves experts. Experts that have been there, numerous times and long enough to realize that not every organization has the expertise in-house in order to progress to the next level. All our consultants possess a wealth of first and second line management experience in the aviation industry. We do not employ straight-out-of-university rookies so you always can rely on solutions that worked for us in the past and are specifically tailored to your individual problem set.

Key Consultants

Taxiway Lima's consultants all come with decades of first and second line management roles within the aviation industry. As such, we know from our own experience where the typical bottlenecks of the aviation value chain lie.

Accountability

Flexibility

Our consultants live around the world and thus can be deployed onto your project much more smoothly and with lesser delay. And, although fully realizing the boundaries of being consultants, we take accountability for our actions. If problems arise as a result of our consulting work, we do not hide behind the 'adviser' role smoke screen only. Instead, we work double as hard to rectify the problem. Again, we come from the seat you are currently occupying so we know the strain your position brings.
